WLAC Host Free Seminar on “YOU and YOUR Money ...decisions for today and the future” SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19

West Los Angeles College will host the 3rd semi-annual free seminar on “YOU and YOUR Money ...decisions for today and the future” on Saturday, November 19 from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The seminar will be led by Assistant Professor of Accounting Charles V. Daniel, formerly an auditor at the international accounting firm of KPMG. He is also past President of the Los Angeles Professional Chapter of the National Association of Black Accountants (NABA).

This is a community service event. No products or services are being promoted or sold.

Professor Daniel will share with both students and community members information to avoid financial pitfalls and identify doable strategies to recover from financial pitfalls. The seminar is designed to benefit both those at the start of and well into their financial life.

Topics to be covered will include:

- Leasing vs. Buying
- Dodging Financial Predators
- What is Your Financial Life Markup?
- Good Credit for Life (FICO and Beyond)
- What is Your Financial Life Break-Even?
- Net vs. Gross Pay – What’s the Big Difference?
- Show Me My Money (Lessons on Saving and Spending)
- AND Much More

While the event is free, an RSVP is required. RSVP to WWW.WeCanBudget.ORG/WLAC. Campus location and parking information will be provided with confirmation of the RSVP. Afternoon refreshments will be provided.

West Los Angeles College is an ACJCC accredited community college with full-time, part-time and online paths to university transfer and career preparation.
