WELCOME TO YOUR COURSE ON Contemporary World Affairs: GLOBAL POLITICS, A WORLD OF CONFLICT AND COOPERATION!

“The introduction to the study of international relations in our time is an introduction to the art and science of the survival of mankind”
Karl Deutch (1912-1992)
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
Political Science 7  Section# 1751   Fall/13
T-TH 9:35-11AM   Room: General Classrooms 420
Instructor: Olga Shewfelt
Office: B4-104 (first floor)
Office Tel: (310) 287-4223
E-mail: shewfeo@wlac.edu
Office Hours: Tuesdays, from 11:01 AM-11:36 a.m. At GC 420 or at my office.

Course Materials:
2. Lectures, case studies, first sources (documents) and selected articles from various magazines, newspaper and web links.
3. Updated political map of the world: http://www.mapofworld.com/world-political-map.htm
4. CIA Factbook at: https://www.cia.gov/library/publications/the-world-factbook/

Week of Concepts & Theories
8/27  Understanding International Relations. International Politics in a globalized world. Conflict & cooperation among nations & institutions.
International Systems, actors and Theories. The Cold & Post Cold War “G” Ch. 1

9/03  International Security & Power Politics: The School of Realpolitik.
The International System Today. 9/11. The West & the Middle East “G” Chapter 2

9/17  International Political Economy (IPE)
Trade Theories, International Trade Regimes & globalization. “G” Chapter 8

9/24  IPE continues.

10/1  Exam 1

ECONOMIC REGIONS AND CULTURAL BLOCKS
10/8  Supranationalism: The European Union.

10/15 The New Asia: China & India
Economic Development & Political conflicts. “G” Chapter 13
10/22 The Americas: The United States, NAFTA & The FTAA
History: Winners & Losers. “G” Ch. 13 p. 589-590 & handout.

10/29 Exam II

WORLD POLITICS

11/05 The North-South Gap
The state of the global North and South & their relations. “G” Chapter 12

11/12 Diplomacy, International Law & Organizations
International Law Sources. UN history, goals & institutions.
The UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Human rights violations in the global world. “G” Chapter 7

11/19 The Environment: resources & population. “G” Chapter 11

11/26 Exam III

12/3 Foreign Policy & World Leadership

12/10 PPP Final Paper Due at 10:15 am!
Tuesday, December 10, from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. PPP FINAL PAPER DUE!
This paper is worth 25% of your final course grade. Failure to submit your paper on the due date will result in obtaining an “F” letter grade. There will be in class presentations of your papers. Everyone must attend! Even if you send your paper electronically or in person, failure to attend and present your paper will result in a deduction of 20% of your final paper grade.

Course Student Learning Objectives:
1) Critical Thinking: Every topic is this course requires a great deal of reading, analysis and comprehension of complex world issues. The student will be able to understand the difference between facts and opinions and between logical arguments and propaganda. The student will be able to list and describe which are the main actors in international relations, which are the global institutions established by the United States in the Bretton Woods Agreement, what are their main functions today, what are the three main theories that explain international relations and what is the role of oil, in world politics and the environment. There are weekly class discussions and exam essays that evaluate a student’s abilities in this area of critical thinking. The essay section (two essays) in each of the three (3) in class tests of this course is worth 40% of the grade.

2) Communication Skills: The course provides a student with a forum to enhance his/her verbal and written communication skills through assignments that require verbal presentations on specific class topics, weekly class discussions, and a final oral presentation of his/her Political Participation Project (PPP). This final written paper requires an oral presentation before the class.
3) Global citizenship:

a) Civic Responsibility. “Think globally, act locally” The final paper in this class is designed to encourage the participation of each student in an international organization of their choice. This provides the student with a concrete opportunity to participate in an organization that works on issues of international scope, yet with national or local implications. Examples are the work done by Amnesty International, Green Peace, or Oxfam America in the areas of human rights, the environment and economic development. The student may also choose to do research on a private multinational corporation/business or Inter-governmental organization IGO’s as long as a connection is made between the selected topic and its implications for the United States. Students may also choose to establish a new campus organization that addresses issues of international scope. This encourages the development of civic responsibility through research, understanding and a level of participation in global politics. The Final Research paper is worth 25% of the course grade.

b) Cultural Diversity. Each student’s cultural background provides all students with the first exposure to the variety of cultures and sub-cultures that form the particular group of students taking this course. Furthermore, a student will be able to differentiate the various complex assumptions/value systems and theories that shape the discipline of International Relations in analyzing specific issues in world politics and observing these diverse views in the identification of the issue and the formulation of solutions or prediction of outcomes. The student is encouraged to become aware of the necessity of comparing and contrasting different points of views in order to arrive to a better understanding of the issue at hand. Students are encouraged to present and evaluate the differences among these main perspectives in class discussions and in short homework essays.

c) Ethics: Topics ranging from human rights and poverty to environmental disasters, require that the student goes beyond the learning of facts, theories, and international law, to examine the cultural and economic/political values upon which political & economic decisions are made. The student is encourage to think and formulate potential ethical alternatives for the resolution of these problems. This aspect of the course is addressed in class discussions/participation and in the conclusion of the final course paper.

Grade System: 3 in-class written exams: 60% of the course grade
Political Participation Project (PPP): 30%. Final Paper
Class Participation 10%.

Exams (3 exams):
Each exam is worth 20% of your course grade. Each exam has 3 sections: Multiple Choice (25 questions (2pts each=50 points). Be sure to bring a scantron form 882E/100 questions) for this section of your test. The second section is a fill-in section with 5 questions (2 pts) each. The third and last section is an Essay Section (2 essays (each worth 20 pts=40 pts). For a total of 100 pts.

Grade Breakdown:
100% ………...A+
94-99%……….. A
90-93%…………A-
87-89%…………B+
84-87%…………B
80-83%…………B-
78-79%………..C+
74-77%………..C
70-73%………..C-
68-69%…………D+
64-67%…………D
60-63%…………D-
59% and below F

Note: Final course grades will be solid letter grades. No minus or pluses are accepted at the office of admissions and records. Therefore, your total course average from the 3 exams and the PPP will be calculated as 90% of your grade, and up to 10% will be added for class participation. The result of this computing operation will be your final course grade.

Political Participation Project (PPP) (15-20 pages research/participation paper). This is a very important part of your learning in this course. It is worth 30% of your total course grade. In lieu of a regular final exam, you will work on a project of political participation about an international public or private organization. This may be a specific nation-state’s government, an international governmental organization (IGO), a non-governmental organization (NGO) or a corporation. You need to present a 15-20 page essay of your research and/or participation in this organization on Tuesday, December 10, 2013. You need to let me know in writing your paper’s topic by 10/08/13 and turn in your project draft on 11/19/13 if you wish me to review it and give you my feedback. Projects are due on Tuesday, December 10, 2013 at 10:15 a.m. There will be class presentations of the projects on that final exam day from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Anyone who turns in the paper but misses the class presentations will have 20% deducted from his/her project grade. NO EXEMPTIONS!

Make Up Exams:
If you failed to take an exam on the scheduled date, you may take a make-up exam provided that you present a valid excuse before or immediately after the scheduled exam. YOU MUST schedule a new exam immediately after the missed exam, and no later than one week from the date of the scheduled regular exam. If you do not take the make up exam at the agreed upon date and time, your missed exam will be graded with a letter “F”.

Class participation: 10% of your total course grade! It includes but is not limited to your class preparation, participation in class discussions, questions, comments and up to 3 short homework assignments.

Attendance: Good attendance is proven to be an essential part of your academic success. I keep strict records of attendance. It is your obligation to attend class and be current with class materials and exams. If you choose to drop this class and you do not want a “W” in your records, you must do so officially with the office of Admissions by 9/6/13. The deadline to drop with a “W” is 11/15/13. If you don’t drop the class officially, you may remain listed as a student in this class even if you are not attending the class, and will be given an “F” as a final course grade. If you fail to attend 2 weeks of instruction (or 4 classes), you will be dropped out of the class. 3 late arrivals or early departures will be considered as one absence.

Course Material:
It consists of the assigned chapters in both books, plus study questions, handouts, videos and lectures. The student is responsible for keeping track of all course materials and studying them for every exam.

Student Conduct:
You are expected to abide by the norms of the LACCD Board of Trustees and the California Education Code. (See West Catalog). Student use of electronic devices during class, or voice taping and/or video taping of my lectures are not permitted unless there is a written request for accommodation of DSP students, or the uses of these devices is directed by the instructor as part of a learning exercise.

Academic Honor Code: Each student understands and honors the value of academic integrity in all his/her academic endeavors including tests, quizzes, written assignments and final paper (PPP). Cheating and Plagiarism in a particular test or written assignment will result in an “F” grade for that particular assignment and any other appropriate disciplinary actions related to student conduct.

Communication with Instructor:
The best way to contact me is after class during my office hours listed on the first page of this syllabus. However, you can also send me an email to shewfeo@wlac.edu, or call and leave a message in my office. Last, ONLY in case of an emergency contact me at my cell phone at (213) 392-0489.