

Spring / Summer 2020 Intro to Teaching Online/Hybrid Courses & Intro to Teaching with Canvas

Introduction to Teaching Online and Hybrid Classes

Transitioning from teaching in the classroom to online can be challenging.

Making the transition without understanding the unique online learning environment can result in a passive learning experience for students and leave instructors feeling inadequate.

This class examines how to design and teach an effective online course that is anchored in student-centered learning and organized around clearly articulated policies, procedures, expectations, and learning objectives. Topics include:

- Developing quality course content
- Creating engaging online discussions
- Designing authentic online assessment strategies.
- Examining approaches to teaching online

These effective practices have been integrated into the design of this fully online course enabling you to develop your own style and approach to teaching online.

Course Offerings:

Fully Online	▪ June 29th - July 24th, 2020
--------------	-------------------------------

Jim Marteney, experienced online instructor, Canvas certification & online pedagogy trainer will facilitate these courses.

To enroll please contact Ashley Jerro at: (310) 287-4305 or email at: jerroa@laccd.edu

Introduction to Teaching with Canvas

Complete your Canvas Certification by participating in this course which will introduce you to the Canvas online learning management system. In addition to learning about the tools and features in Canvas, you will also start to develop your first online or hybrid class. The training consists of 7 – 10 hours of work online each week. This gives you a flexible schedule and the opportunity to experience what it is like to be an online student!

Class meeting schedule:

Fully Online	May 4th May - 27th
--------------	-----------------------

Topics include

- Posting a Syllabus
- Organizing assignments & tests
- Presenting information
- Making announcements
- Setting up discussions

Hadi Dabbagh, West's Online Technical Support Assistant and CSIT alumni who recently completed his Master's in Computer Science will facilitate this class.

Another option is "Introduction to Teaching with Canvas" from @ONE - a fully online Canvas Certification course. This course is now FREE!!! Visit

<https://catalog.onlinenetworkofeducators.org>

Please note that the LACCD only accepts @ONE's facilitated courses, not their self-paced courses.